

ESPE 109: Credit Constraints for Small Farmers in Colombia

ESPE 109: Credit Constraints for Small Farmers in Colombia

This study analyzes the constraints faced by small farmers in Colombia in accessing formal credit. Through a literature review and an empirical analysis, it identifies frictions that constrain small farmers' access to credit by increasing costs for financial intermediaries or discouraging producers from applying for financing.

See document